LeMay Seeks Record
GEN. CURTIS E. LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, is attempting to set a new world's nonstop record for jet aircraft without refueling in a flight to Buenos Aires, the Air Force announced tonight. LeMay is piloting a KC135 jet strato-tanker on the 6,300-mile flight from Westover Air Force Base, Massachusetts.

Mayor Of Buffalo
BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 11 (AP) — Former City Judge Frank A. Sedita, a Democrat, today was officially declared elected as mayor of Buffalo by a margin of 60 votes — closest in the city's history.

Only Few Months
DETROIT, Nov. 11 (AP) — Only a few months separate the United States and Russia in missile development, former Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said tonight.

Plane In Mud
PARIS, Nov. 11 (AP) — A Russian TU104 jetliner overshot the runway at Prague Airport today and bogged down in mud about 100 feet beyond the paved strip, one of the passengers reported tonight in Paris. None of the 65 passengers were hurt.

Invitation For Adlai
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP) — President Eisenhower reportedly has asked Adlai Stevenson to accompany him to the NATO meeting in Paris as number three man in charge of America's effort to revitalize allied opposition to Soviet expansion, it was reported tonight.

End Of Voyage
OLD TOWN, Maine, Nov. 11 (AP) — Four modern voyagers who paddled and portaged two 16-foot canoes from Denver, Colo., ended their 5,000 mile trek in this canoe-making city today.

Hoover Talks On Strengths Of America
NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP) — Former Republican President Herbert Hoover, from the promontory of his 83 years, surveyed the American scene today and concluded:

"I have lived a long life and I have seen our country exert its strengths to overcome as great dangers as those which beset us today."

Without mentioning Soviet Russia's accomplishments in outer space, Hoover told the 49th annual meeting of the Grocery Manufacturers of America:

"We possess many eminent scientists and engineers of great ability and ingenuity. We have more research laboratories in action than all the rest of the world put together."

Great Warning
"Our country has had a great warning. It is on the alert. I have no doubt of our ability to invent any other horrible weapon necessary to deter our enemy."

Hoover said Russian techniques deserve our respect. But he declared that most of their scientific know-how has been borrowed from the United States, Britain, Germany and France.

He continued: "But with our own discoveries in science, our inventive genius, and our productive capacity, our country has risen to a position of effective retaliation to any irresponsible nation which might contemplate attacking us."

Hoover called it "a worm's eye view" to suggest that America is entering its decline and fall. A bird's eye view, he added, would disclose the "growing strength of our nation."

The ex-president found spiritual strength in the nation's "increasing attendance upon the worship of God."

Record Shows Other Reasons
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP) — Economy alone cannot be blamed for this nation's lagging behind Russia in getting man-made satellites into outer space, Rep. Curtin (R-Pa.) said today.

Good Morning!
The dog won the title "man's best friend" because his tail wags, not his tongue.

The Moment Of Silence

Into the dark room, bursting
From the corner sunlit window
A bugle's lonely, thrilling
Sound attempts to show
The children in the room
The face of war, its tragic doom.

Far out, beyond this peaceful school
In memory a man goes marching.
Less than a man, he is a simple tool
Of war, moved here beneath the arching
Tracks of a more distant gun whose flame
Corrupts his body and blows apart his name.

Some years from now, when he is dust,
His unnamed hill is turned in trust
To fertile ends so that new crops may grow
Out of the torment of his blood and we may know
That his loss is the shapeless scar we bear.

Nameless to us he was part of our destiny.
This bugle is the sound of formal death;
This is the price of War's love and its dignity.
Yet in this moment's music and its breath
We have a peace he sought but cannot share.

French Senator Proposes Arming All NATO Nations With Latest Atom Weapons

PARIS, Nov. 11 (AP) — Arming of all members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with atomic weapons was urged today by a French senator.

The proposal for "a common program, not only in research, but in the use of atomic weapons," was put before a close session of the military committee of NATO's Parliamentary Assembly by Gen. Marie-Emil Bethouart.

Explaining his suggestion in an interview, Bethouart said he intended for the plan to cover all NATO countries, including West Germany. "My proposal is not for individual nations but for a stockpiling by all the NATO allies," he said.

Similar Suggestions
Similar suggestions have been made in Washington.

Britain and the United States presently are the only atomic-equipped NATO powers. Bethouart's proposal was seen as an indication of widespread continental uneasiness over British-American nuclear strategy excluding other NATO members.

NATO's civilian boss, Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak, last week came out for creating a trained international force able to draw on a NATO stockpile of nuclear weapons.

Today's session of the Parliamentary Assembly also heard another French proposal for creation of a centralized European administration for development of ballistic missiles.

The Assembly has only an advisory capacity in the NATO set-up. NATO's ruling body is the Council, which is to meet next month with President Eisenhower.

British Prime Minister Macmillan and other chiefs of government. Arthur Gilson of Belgium and Lt. Gen. Michael R. H. Calmeyer of the Netherlands presented a report containing sharp words for NATO's Supreme Headquarters, under the command of U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad.

The report called for renewed emphasis on conventional defense forces, a "common defense plan, an equitable division of the common effort and subsequently a common defense budget."

Separate Meeting
At a separate preliminary meeting, U.S. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) was elected chairman of NATO's political committee.

At a meeting of the general affairs committee, Sen. Jacob Javits (R-NY) welcomed proposals to set up an Atlantic institute to give persons from NATO countries brief courses in the cultural, economic and strategic ties linking the 15-member nations.

Javits also said NATO must take cognizance of colonial questions, such as the nationalist rebellion in Algeria against France.

Community Chest To Hold Last Meeting For Reports

COMMUNITY CHEST will hold its "last report meeting" for the 1957 campaign this week.

All captains in the current campaign have been asked to have their reports in to Chest headquarters prior to 3 p. m. tomorrow. The report meeting—which division leaders are to attend—will be held at 4 p. m. that day in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Last week the Chest total stood at only 68 per cent of quota. That was described by Clifford Cramer as "not a very good showing at this time." Cramer issued a new appeal this week to all "division leaders and captains whose workers have still not reported in to redouble their efforts and make a final push to help the Chest meet its goal."

Ike Wins Clean Bill Of Health

Doctors Term Condition 'Excellent'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP) — President Eisenhower's physicians said today after another hospital checkup that "the President continues to maintain an excellent state of health."

A new medical report on the 67-year-old President, which went into particular detail as to his heart and abdomen, reported nothing wrong.

"His general physical condition is excellent," the doctors said after a physical examination with laboratory tests at Walter Reed Army Hospital yesterday and today.

Eisenhower had given his own report a few hours earlier on leaving the hospital, where he had spent the night. A reporter asked him then how he was feeling, and Eisenhower replied: "Fine, Fine."

Signature
The medical report was signed by Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, personal physician to the President, and Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the hospital's commanding general.

The White House said earlier that this was a routine examination. Eisenhower had three check-ups last year, his last previous full examination on Oct. 27-28. Since then he has had brief inspections of the heart and lungs.

Today's report was largely devoted to Eisenhower's cardiovascular system, because of his heart attack in September 1955, and the abdomen, because of surgery for ileitis in June 1956.

New Jersey Receives Quick Check

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 11 (AP) — New Jersey was given a quick aerial once-over today by 25 members of two state advisory groups.

For nearly two hours members of the State Planning and Development Council and Gov. Robert B. Meyner's Air Facilities Planning Committee viewed the land from a commercial airliner.

Purpose: to give those studying New Jersey's growth and natural resources an over-all picture of the problems they face.

Low Level
The flight graphically revealed something everyone on board already knew — that water reservoirs in many areas are at an appallingly low level.

Wanaque Reservoir looked especially low from 3,000 feet up. Its shore line, a vivid brown, was uncomfortably wide. The telltale brown was also visible in its middle sections where the water was parted by humps of land.

Taking off from Newark Airport, the plane scanned the New York-New Jersey border north-westward, until reaching Port Jervis, N.Y.

Delaware River
Then it followed the Delaware River southward, passing over Stokes State Forest, Wallpack Center, the Round Valley Reservoir site and Trenton.

The return trip to Newark took in Atlantic City and other New Jersey shore points.

During the flight, Burlington County's planning director said he thought a $200 million jet air terminal would go into the construction stage within five years.

George M. Rogers of Mt. Holly told reporters a 20,000-acre tract owned by the state in Burlington would be ideal as an airport that would see "four-hour flights to Europe."

Rita To Marry Fifth Time

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11 (AP) — Writer-producer James Hill said today that he and actress Rita Hayworth were planning to marry but have set no date. Columnist Earl Wilson of the New York Post reported the romance earlier today.

It will be Miss Hayworth's fifth marriage, Hill's first.

Search Continues

Lost Plane Draws Probe

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11 (AP) — Pan American began an investigation today to ascertain if there was "any evidence of a crime" involved in the baffling disappearance in the Pacific of a Stratocruiser carrying 44 persons.

A spokesman emphasized there is "nothing to indicate there has been a crime."

At 11:32 a.m. today, a Coast Guard station operator at Upolu Point, Hawaii, reported hearing what he thought could be faint SOS signals.

Capt. Donald MacDiarmid, Coast Guard chief of operations, began a check, but said "We are hearing those things all the time." He said it was possible someone was testing emergency equipment.

Insurance
In San Francisco, the Pan American spokesman said the airline's investigation included checking into insurance carried by passengers on the plane and looking into the background of various personnel.

"We were under the impression the Federal Bureau of Investigation did this," the spokesman explained. "Now we learn that the FBI enters in only when there is concrete evidence of a crime. That is not the case here."

"Since someone has to investigate every angle, we, as the responsible carrier, are undertaking that I would like to stress, however, there is nothing to indicate there has been a crime. It is just a facet which has to be undertaken."

Recalls Tragedy
"According to our legal advisor, this is an infernal task. A check already has been made by a company handling machines at the airport which sell such insurance. To date, the amounts checked seem strictly normal. I understand the top permitted by one machine is $52,000 for a person."

Missing Aircraft

The nature of the investigation recalled the tragedy which befell a United Air Lines plane Oct. 6, 1955. A dynamite explosion plunged 66 persons to their death in a beet field near Denver, Colo. Among those who died was Mrs.

Daisie E. King, 54, of Denver. Her son, John Gilbert Graham, 23, was convicted of planting a timed dynamite bomb in his mother's suit case after taking out $37,000 in insurance, with himself as beneficiary. Graham was executed last Jan. 11.

Pan American officials have emphasized that it would be sheer speculation to say an explosion sent its stratocruiser "Romance of the Skies" into the Pacific Friday night. But they said the fact the plane vanished without any radioed hint of distress grimly suggested that whatever befell the plane struck with paralyzing suddenness and violence.

Meanwhile, a mammoth search for the Stratocruiser, in progress three days, was pressed without letup, but with little hope.

"We have not thrown in the sponge by any means," said William E. Chapline, the Coast Guard commander heading up the hunt over 172,440 square miles of the vast Pacific from Honolulu.

"We will definitely continue tomorrow and probably the rest of this week."

Reported sighting last night 1,000 miles east of Honolulu of three flares had raised hopes momentarily of finding rubber rafts from the Honolulu-bound airliner. The plane carried 35 passengers and a crew of eight.

The best way to get a man back into the heavier atmosphere, Hagen went on, would be to put wings on the vehicle. He envisaged a vehicle 30 or 40 feet long and weighing at least 2,000 or 3,000 pounds. Sputnik II's weight has been given by the Russians as 1,120 pounds.

Hagen said a satellite that heavy implies a rocket thrust "far in excess of what we have today."

He told newsmen he didn't know when the Army would attempt to launch a satellite with its modified Jupiter-C missile. The Army was brought into the satellite program only last Friday. If Project Vanguard had been given access to a launcher like the Jupiter-C two years ago, Hagen said, it "would probably have had a satellite in the air" before the Russians.

Hagen said he assumed the size of the Army's satellite would be somewhere between the 6-inch sphere that Vanguard plans to experiment with next month and the 20-inch globe it is scheduled to fire into space sometime in March.

Asked about reports that the Army has a supply of satellites it was not permitted to launch under the old division of effort, Hagen said "this is an opportunity for them to take them out of the storehouse and use them."

Consultant
He said one of 30 witnesses under subpoena for the week of hearings is Vincent J. Squillante, whom he described as a New York labor relations consultant active in negotiations between Teamsters Union officials and garbage haulers. He said Squillante was a "self-styled godson of Albert Anastasia... he traded on Albert's name."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) has announced the inquiry stems from charges that a corrupt combine of certain garbage haulers, gangsters and Teamster officials has gained powerful influence in the industry, using gangster tactics to freeze out competitors.

As Kennedy described it to reporters, "It is more of an investigation of the association and how they operate, and the operations of a labor relations consultant, Vincent J. Squillante..." But he said the roles of some union officials also would figure largely in the testimony.

Kennedy declined to spell out just where the names of Anastasia and Scalise fit into the story.

May Divorce Sixth
NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP) — Helress Barbara Hutton was en route to the United States today amid rumors that she's going to divorce her sixth husband, German Baron Gottfried von Cramm.

The agreement was said to have been reached in a meeting last week between Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Asst. Secretary of State William M. Rountree.

Troops Alerted
The agreement was reported to include a new exchange of ambassadors to fill vacancies created by a near rupture last August when Damascus army chiefs accused the United States of plotting overthrow of the Syrian government.

The agreement was said to have been reached in a meeting last week between Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Asst. Secretary of State William M. Rountree.

Developments
Developments which otherwise could presage a new crest of the Middle East crisis were somewhat balanced, however, by unconfirmed reports from Arab sources

U.S. Project Chief Urges Solid Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP) — Dr. John P. Hagen, head of Project Vanguard, said today the United States should develop a well coordinated program aimed at sending man into space.

The Vanguard project, devoted to launching a fully instrumented earth satellite, is a step in that direction, Hagen told a news conference.

He estimated it would be "years" before a man could be sent up with any chance of getting back to earth safely.

Laika, the Russian dog inside Sputnik II, appeared today to have died in the interests of furthering space travel. There was no official report on the fate of the animal but there was general agreement in Moscow that it was dead.

Report

However, at a Swedish embassy reception in Moscow, Premier Nikolai Bulganin said today that when last heard from yesterday Laika was still alive. Talking with reporters, Bulganin said yesterday's telemetric transmission from Sputnik II included reports on her pulse, heartbeat and blood pressure.

A top ranking Soviet physicist said at the same reception, however, that Laika "must be dead." And another Soviet scientist said earlier in the day she died Friday.

Hagen said he personally would prefer to send up a rat rather than a dog because, he said, a rat is more like a human, physiologically. A monkey is even more like a human, he added.

Vanguard's chief said one of the problems of a manned space vehicle is that of reentry into the earth's denser atmosphere, where friction will cause intense heat.

The best way to get a man back into the heavier atmosphere, Hagen went on, would be to put wings on the vehicle. He envisaged a vehicle 30 or 40 feet long and weighing at least 2,000 or 3,000 pounds. Sputnik II's weight has been given by the Russians as 1,120 pounds.

Hagen said a satellite that heavy implies a rocket thrust "far in excess of what we have today."

Tributes Presented To War Dead

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP) — Tributes to America's war dead on this annual Veterans Day were punctuated by calls for the United States to regain ground lost to Russia in the conquest of space.

Medal of Honor winner Joe J. Foss, Republican governor of South Dakota, blamed the lag on economy acts of Congress, which he called "a reckless thing." He said Congress yielded to public clamor for economy "obtained at the expense of military strength and national security."

Foss said the American public, alerted by the Soviet feats, are "letting it be known that they prefer strength and national security to penny-pinching."

Distinction
Foss, a World War I hero who also served with distinction in Korea, spoke at a Veterans Day observance at Arlington National Cemetery. Elsewhere in the nation and at U.S. military stations overseas there also were ceremonies honoring American dead of all wars.

This observance has replaced Armistice Day for Americans but is held on the anniversary of the armistice which ended World War I. In nations allied with the United States in that conflict there were annual Armistice Day ceremonies.

Turkish Army Brings New War Jitters To Syrians

DAMASCUS, Syria, Nov. 11 (AP) — Syria put on a new show of war jitters today after the army reported unusually large Turkish troop movements at night along the northern frontier.

High excitement was generated also by mass street demonstrations and new editorial attacks against Hussein of Jordan, King of the brother Arab state to the south. Speakers and editorials accused him of betraying Arab nationalism and threatened him with liquidation.

Developments
The tax measure was enacted by the Franklin Twp. School Board in Greene County and was upheld by Judge John I. Hook.

The Wayneburg Drive-in, represented by Atty. John E. Bally and the Wayneburg Roller Rink, represented by Atty. J. Wood Williamson, appealed Judge Hook's ruling.

at the United Nations in New York that Syria and the United States had agreed on steps to improve their relations.

The agreement was reported to include a new exchange of ambassadors to fill vacancies created by a near rupture last August when Damascus army chiefs accused the United States of plotting overthrow of the Syrian government.

The agreement was said to have been reached in a meeting last week between Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Asst. Secretary of State William M. Rountree.

Schools Observe Day For Veterans

Speakers Warn Of Future Years

TWO MAIN Veterans Day programs were held in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg schools yesterday.

Official observance of the day began at 9 a.m. with placement of a wreath on the American Legion monument at the George N. Kemp Post Home in East Stroudsburg. A similar wreath was laid at the foot of Stroudsburg's Doughboy Monument a half hour later. Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and other veterans' groups had charge at both ceremonies.

Programs were held simultaneously in Stroud Union High School and East Stroudsburg Junior High School auditorium at 10 a.m. The main speakers were J. Joseph McCluskey at Stroud Union and Dr. David Peiffly at East Stroudsburg Junior High School.

At East Stroudsburg High School the students themselves conducted their program. And Bruce Vlechnicki, student leader, analyzed a major problem confronting America and Americans by paralleling the complacency which preceded Pearl Harbor and the Korean conflict with America's present attitude, Vlechnicki said:

Realization
"Being here today to honor those men who died in the wars, we should also realize that many thousands of these men would not have died if the American people had been awake to the dangers which confronted her. Over a thousand men died needlessly at Pearl Harbor because the U.S. was asleep. It was such a nice, calm, warm Sunday morning at Pearl; men were on shore leave and the ships contained only skeleton crews; no one could imagine that Japan could or would attack such a mighty power as the U.S."

"So deep was our lethargy that when a few scattered reports of planes coming in were received, they were disregarded and forgotten. . . The attack completely surprised the American people. We were caught napping. But did we learn our lesson? No. After the war ended we turned to more pleasant things and blissfully turned over in our beds and went to sleep."

A CROWD'S ALLEGIANCE—Veterans Day ceremonies opened at East Stroudsburg Junior High School with the pledge to the flag. Main address was given by Dr. David G. Peiffly. Large audience of students attended.

"Then, for the second time in our (recent) history we were caught asleep, this time by the Koreans. We had disbanded most of our Army, we had only a few guns or planes and most of these were obsolete. We had no defensive planes in case of attack."

"After the Korean war ended, the American people slept on, never realizing that the ominous black cloud on the horizon would almost engulf us before we were aware that it was there. But, finally—lucky for us—the Russians woke us up, perhaps unwittingly, through the trouble they caused in the Near East and through their great technological advances."

Still Asleep
"But . . . the American people . . ."

ple are still asleep; we are no more aware of the Russian threat than we are of the significance of the Russian satellites. These shiny little orbs, racing around our planet, aren't taken with the seriousness which should be attached to them."

"These are Russia's latest warnings to us. They show us how fast Russia is surpassing us in, not only missiles, but in every other branch of warfare. . . The U.S. is lagging behind, not only in intermediate range ballistic missiles, but also in the race for the intercontinental Ballistic Missiles."

In his address before Stroud Union students, McCluskey, a Stroudsburg attorney, also hit upon the theme of Soviet advances in science and the American technological lag. He said:

"After three long and terrible conflicts, we are today in the midst of troubled times. At home, there is great political unrest and feuding and rivalry among the three branches of our Armed Forces to the detriment of National Security. Abroad, the Middle East is in a dangerous state of turmoil with the capability of boiling over at any time. And the most recent development of all—the Sputniks."

"These initial Russian satellites must make us realize that, for the time being at least, America's rocket program and achievements are lagging quite a distance behind Russia."

"All the world—except possibly the United States—knows that the future will be owned by the nation with the top technical know-how. In the future infantry and artillery masses will not be enough—we have to develop and retain technical superiority in weapons. The dean of the engineering school at Columbia University has said that we are losing a war we have not yet fought and strength we have not yet enjoyed."

Junior High

At East Stroudsburg Junior High's program Dr. Peiffly traced the history of Armistice Day and emphasized the importance of changing its name to Veterans Day. He told students that this was accomplished on October 8, 1954 when President Eisenhower signed a proclamation for observance of Nov. 11 as

Witnesses To Be Present At Convention

APPROXIMATELY 100 delegates of the Brothheadville and East Stroudsburg Congregations have completed plans to attend a convention this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Phillipsburg, N.J., at the National Guard Armory located at Bates and Heckman Sts.

"The convention will be symbolic in miniature of national and international conventions held in recent years in the United States and European countries," said Fred Severud, presiding minister of the East Stroudsburg congregation.

Bible Truths
"Every minister of Jehovah's Witnesses is dedicated not only to declare the good news of God's kingdom, which is the only hope for humankind, but also to teach Bible truths to all persons who are conscious of their spiritual need. For that reason the theme which will be emphasized throughout the convention program will be 'qualified to teach,' he said."

An important feature of the convention will be the baptismal discourse to be delivered by one of the representatives of the Watchtower Society on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. Candidates for baptism will then be taken to the immersion pool to symbolize their decision to their creator.

A. A. Catanzaro of New York, noted Bible scholar and lecturer, will be the featured speaker of the event. He will appear on the program all three days and will deliver the main public address at 3 p.m. Sunday. His subject is, "What are the Prospects For Lasting Peace?"

The Phillipsburg program will draw about 1,300 ministers from 21 congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses from the Eastern Pennsylvania and Western New Jersey area.

Special Blood Donor Drive To Be Held At East Borough Elks Club Four Hours Today

THE FLU-LIKE epidemic which swept over this area in the last two months has forced the Red Cross Blood Recruitment Committee to schedule a special blood donor drive here today.

Jack Pine, committee chairman, said the Bloodmobile will be at the Elks Home for four hours today—1 to 5 p.m.—and that walk-ins are needed to meet the special 75-pint quota.

Today's drive is necessary, Pine said, to maintain Monroe County's full coverage with the regional Red Cross Blood Bank in Wilkes-Barre. At least 65 pints are needed to put the county up to quota, the chairman said.

No blood drive had been scheduled for November when the 1957 Bloodmobile visits were originally announced. A wave of sickness in September and October, however, resulted in cancellation of the Bloodmobile's visit to East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and cut down on the amount of blood received during the October drive in Barrett Township.

This caused a deficit which the committee hopes to make up in today's drive, Pine explained.

'New Impetus' To Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The State Department said today it will give "new impetus" to a bogged-down program for assigning science attaches to American embassies abroad, and to finding a top-rank scientific adviser for Secretary Dulles.

The steps are a followup to President Eisenhower's announcement in his broadcast to the nation last night that such moves will be made as part of the government's effort to strengthen scientific research.

Quicksand Forces Use Of Pilings For Bridge Pier

WORKMEN ARE DRIVING pilings for the western pier of the new bridge spanning W. Main St., as a result of quicksand found in the stream bed.

Joseph C. Clampl, district engineer for the State Highways Dept., said the experience with quicksand in bridge construction is not unusual.

Borings

He said that a bridge erected at Sciota recently required 40 to 68 foot pilings, although test borings prior to start of construction showed only 35 feet of quicksand in the stream bed.

He said no borings were made by his department at the W. Main St. bridge.

"THEY'RE CATCHING ON, BUT THEY CAN'T CATCH UP." That's how lots of people feel about the "new 1958" cars that are trying to match the Dodge Swept-Wing look. These other cars have been lowered some, but still seem high and boxy by comparison. A few are "catching on" to fins, but they're years from

"catching up." And the air suspension offered by some cars (at well over $100 extra) can't compare with the sway-free, dip-free ride of Dodge Torsion-Aire (standard equipment on all models). So on your way home from someone else's new car showing, stop in and compare it with Swept-Wing 58 by Dodge. You'll see what we mean.

Bangor Borough Council Selects Kauffman For Vacant Seat

Vote Follows Along Party Channels

BANGOR — Bangor Borough Council, in an adjourned session last night, followed party lines in filling a vacant council seat.

Council elected Chester Kauffman, Democrat of the Third Ward, to fill the unexpired term of David Price III, Republican, who resigned last week.

Two names had been proposed, Kauffman's and Granville Evans, Republican, who is football coach at Bangor Area Joint High School.

Voting
The six Democrats voted for Kauffman, while the three Republicans supported Evans.

In other action, Council recommended that representatives of the borough go to Philadelphia to meet with the Community Improvement Division of the federal government to discuss sewage plant construction in the borough.

Council approved new plans presented by the State Highways Dept. for reconstruction of Washington St. provided the borough will have no financial or other responsibility in the matter.

Bills totaling over $600, presented by the Bangor Park Board for permanent improvements at the park, were approved for payment.

Purchase
Council also authorized the purchase of a 1954 truck for use by the park board.

It was announced the borough's association will hold a dinner meeting Nov. 22 at the YMCA in Nazareth.

Council authorized a new study of the police pension program for the borough. It instructed the new program be prepared for enactment at the December meeting of Council.

Mental Group Sets Question Deadline

A DEADLINE of Nov. 24 has been fixed for return of questionnaires to the Monroe County Mental Health Assn.

The forms are to be used by the Mental Health group in its survey of the mental health needs in this area.

Those persons who received questionnaire forms in the mail are asked to return them no later than Nov. 20, according to Mrs. Arthur Henning, chairman of the group.

Mrs. Henning said last night that the group's education-orientation program is moving along at full stride. A group from the education sub-committee is now "pre-viewing" films available for showing before local groups.

From these "pre-views", committee members hope to get a better idea of the films which will be ideal for local audiences. The films, when they are made available, will be furnished complete with a local group member who will guide a question and answer program after the showing.

Working with the local group in its preparatory steps is Robert T. Oliver, representative in this region of the Pennsylvania Mental Health Assn.

First reports said that 20 cars of a 100-car eastbound freight were derailed, but the company said later that only 13 left the tracks. No one was injured.

The accident was caused by an overheated journal box on one of the cars, the railroad said.

Seeking A Solution

We're pleased by the unity of purpose and viewpoint existing among three Stroudsburg groups working toward a solution of the municipal parking problem.

By pooling their ideas and co-operating closely in other respects, the three groups hope to come up with a practical solution—something that so far has eluded those seeking it.

Anyone who drives a car will agree that the problem is a serious one, especially from late Spring to early Fall when the area is crowded with tourists.

Today's shopper prefers to park his car handy to the business district, particularly if bulky packages must be carried from store to parking place. This gives the shopper greater freedom of movement in all the stores and does not limit him or her to only those purchases which can be carried to the car on one trip.

Businessmen realize this fact and sometimes provide parking lots of their own for shoppers. But their efforts are restricted to the space that is available within reasonable proximity to their stores.

By and large, the chief responsibility for setting up adequate parking facilities rests with the municipal government, which receives a return in several ways. For one thing, parking meters give the community an additional source of revenue.

Just as important, although not as readily appreciated, is the increased tax return which comes to the municipality from a healthy business section as compared with one that is being strangled because of lack of proper parking facilities.

Stroudsburg Borough authorities have long recognized the seriousness of the parking problem here. First, they extended the parking meter zone beyond the business district. This helped to ease the situation, but did not cure it.

Council then installed four-hour meters in certain fringe areas of the meter zone to encourage greater patronage of all the meters. While this helped too, it was not the final solution.

Borough Council then set up the Stroudsburg Parking Authority with instructions to hire engineering consultants to study the problem.

This resulted in a recommendation that two and possibly three properties be purchased in the central business section for conversion to a municipally operated parking lot.

Certain problems are yet to be ironed out before the authority and council can take any definite action. The first step is to negotiate for purchase of the property, which council has authorized the authority to do. Next, a suitable arrangement for financing the purchase must be reached.

The Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. is cooperating in this approach by guaranteeing up to $1,000 a year for three years to make up any deficit in operating costs of the parking lot.

There is no assurance that the program as mapped out in preliminary talks will prove feasible, but with all three groups pooling their efforts and resources we can envision success in the venture if success is at all possible.

Keep Eye On New Jersey Governor

Whether Republican or Democratic, those persons who are engaged in evaluating the results of Tuesday's election agree on one point. They concede that Governor Robert B. Meyner, of New Jersey, is a man with a political future.

His 200,000-vote victory over Malcolm S. Forbes, GOP nominee whom President Eisenhower backed, makes him a bright hope for the Democrats in 1960.

There is no denying that his vote-getting success in a normally Republican state puts him in a position to bid for the Democratic presidential nomination. His situation is somewhat comparable to that of Woodrow Wilson in 1910.

Both men pitched their gubernatorial campaigns on state issues. They kept free from national controversies. They emphasized good, progressive government at home.

This kind of politics opened the doors of the White House to Governor Wilson in 1912—and it seems to be paying off well so far for Governor Meyner.

At least he has become the man to keep your eye on as Democrats begin their maneuvers for 1960.—Williamsport Sun-Gazette

The Pennsylvania Story

Labor's Vote Impact

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — It is becoming more apparent now that organized labor in Pennsylvania played an increasingly important role in last week's elections.

It does not follow necessarily however that labor has become a decisive factor on the Pennsylvania scene.

Even the stoutest of labor's leadership will concede the point.

However it does mean that with each passing year and with each passing election the impact of labor on the ballot is being felt more and more sharply.

Last Tuesday's local elections illustrated the point in a number of instances. In quite a few of the heretofore predominantly Republican areas of the state, GOP headdresses tumbled where organized labor was unusually strong.

The alliance between labor and the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania has been no secret.

For the most part this has consisted however of a meeting of minds between Democratic Party leaders and the state leadership of labor itself.

It has not—and it still does not—reflect any sort of mass following on the part of rank and file with their state leadership. There remains an area of dogged independence in this respect.

State labor leaders have come up against it repeatedly in recent years. The past two legislative sessions when labor kingpins unsuccessfully tried to drive home local support for many a controversial Democratic Leader Administration goal succinctly illustrates the point.

Nevertheless the potential is there. It is the GOP that has not been noted by any means as the labor party's an appellation readily accorded the Democratic Party.

But by the same token Republicans have habitually avoided any outright, sincere effort to woo labor to its cause. If previous election campaigns didn't open their eyes, last Tuesday's most certainly should have done the trick.

What many a Pennsylvania Republican leader has failed to realize is the fact that while labor's state leaders may well be hand in glove with Democrats, the rank and file has not necessarily followed in the same path.

The advisability of courting labor's ranks is obvious to many a GOP leader on Capitol Hill but to others — many of whom are GOP kingpins — the golden opportunity backed up by cold necessity has been largely overlooked.

November 5 has now pointed out to many what can be done — without necessarily carrying favor with the state labor leaders.

ever present. Around Capitol Hill it is generally regarded as having blossomed fitfully last week.

However the point that should be noted centers around the fact that what labor support was generated in behalf of last Tuesday's candidates, originated with local labor and not the state labor leadership.

It is this uncontrollable factor that has sent key state labor leaders into a pother in recent years—and undoubtedly will continue for quite some time to come.

The solidification of political views on the labor front is growing and becoming more of a critical factor with each passing year.

It still has not reached the point where it is a decisive factor however.

Pennsylvania Republicans for some reason have completely missed the point.

It is the GOP that has not been noted by any means as the labor party's an appellation readily accorded the Democratic Party.

But by the same token Republicans have habitually avoided any outright, sincere effort to woo labor to its cause. If previous election campaigns didn't open their eyes, last Tuesday's most certainly should have done the trick.

What many a Pennsylvania Republican leader has failed to realize is the fact that while labor's state leaders may well be hand in glove with Democrats, the rank and file has not necessarily followed in the same path.

The advisability of courting labor's ranks is obvious to many a GOP leader on Capitol Hill but to others — many of whom are GOP kingpins — the golden opportunity backed up by cold necessity has been largely overlooked.

November 5 has now pointed out to many what can be done — without necessarily carrying favor with the state labor leaders.

Ike Suffers As Politician

When a political party ceases to represent a body of principles and becomes the appendage of one man, it loses its special character and its vitality diminishes the moment the extraordinary man's unique popularity lessens.

That is precisely what is now the status of the Republican Party which has shifted from the economic and social conservatism which had been its characteristic to adulation of Dwight D. Eisenhower who, while heroic as a soldier, has proved himself to be a doubtful executive in civil administration and altogether incapable of grasping the essentials of American political life and institutions.

Other leadership than Eisenhower has not appeared in Republican ranks, although such men as Vice President Richard Nixon, Senator William Knowland, Senator Barry Goldwater, and Senator Styles Bridges are making some mark upon the country.

Vice President Nixon is currently the principal aspirant for the Presidential nomination in 1960, although it must be noted that Harold Stassen is always an aspirant. Nixon's difficulty is that he had been regarded by the Taft Republicans as one of them; he has come to be regarded as a White House spokesman. With what agility he will cross that bridge is to be seen.

The Taft Republicans would prefer Knowland for the Presidency, but they are convinced that Knowland's present arrangement is something like the Taft-Eisenhower arrangement in 1948, namely whoever was in the lead would support the other. Dewey was in the lead in that year; in 1952, Dewey should have supported Taft.

Had Taft been elected in 1952, there can be little doubt but that Knowland would have been Vice President and therefore Taft's successor when Taft died. Politicians have long memories and although most of them are opportunists, their disappointments rankle. Knowland knows what the arrangements for 1952 were; he also knows that it was Earl Warren who was playing court politics with the controlled, unit-like, California delegation in that Convention.

In the 1960 Republican Convention, it will be Knowland who will control and vote the

Union Ouster Far Off

Washington, Nov. 11—That widely-headlined suspension of the scandal-stricken Teamsters voted overwhelmingly last month by the AFL-CIO Executive Council has yet to be put into effect.

Further, it is not likely to be for some time to come — if ever!

Two reasons are behind this intriguing inside situation:

"Suspension of the Teamsters would automatically oust scores of state and local AFL officials throughout the country. The AFL's political organization would be particularly hard hit by such large-scale axing. Many of these laborites are key pins in that organization."

AFL-CIO chiefs are purposely proceeding very slowly in enforcing the suspension order in the belief that time is playing into their hands in getting rid of James Hoffa and his clique — the real targets of the expulsion move.

William Lee, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, is a graphic illustration of the first reason.

A close friend of Mayor Richard Daley, and a member of the Chicago Civil Service Commission, Lee swings a lot of weight in the local Democratic party. But as a Teamster, Lee would immediately lose his influential AFL position upon the promulgation of the suspension order—even though he is strongly anti-Hoffa and ran against him at the Miami Convention.

The time that AFL-CIO leaders are counting on to bar Hoffa from becoming Teamster president is based on three definite court trials facing him, and a possible fourth.

Attorneys estimate it will take Hoffa at least a year to dispose of the three trials.

The first gets underway this week in a federal court in New York on charges of perjury. Second trial confronting Hoffa is also in New York, for wiretapping. The date for that case is still unfixed. Also still to be set is the trial on Federal Judge Letts' ruling that Hoffa's election as Teamster president was illegal.

This proceedings alone will take months. Hoffa and his henchmen cannot take over the Teamster rule—which they were heavily counting on to aid them in resisting ouster. Letts' edict forces them to do their fighting from the outside, instead of as office holders.

That's a big difference—especially financially.

The fourth possible trial confronting Hoffa arises from an Internal Revenue investigation of his tax affairs.

This probe has been underway a long time. The Revenue Service's findings have been submitted to the Justice Department. The Senate Racket Investigating Committee has been informed that prosecution was recommended.

It is an open secret the Senate probes are keeping a close eye on what happens in this matter.

AFL-CIO insiders say a Teamster expulsion authorization will be sought at the annual convention in Atlantic City next month. But it will be an ax with an out. That is, the convention will be asked to vote the Executive Council power to expel the Teamsters — provided Hoffa is not got rid of by the judicial or some other route.

Sparks—Herbert Hill, head of the NAACP's labor division, is organizing an aggressive drive to "uplift the negroes' status in defense plants." According to the NAACP official, negroes are being discriminated against in these industries in the North as well as elsewhere. Hill is preparing a number of complaints to be placed before the President's Committee on Government Contracts... Theodore Goldsmith, top Washington authority on government securities, forecasts a continued rise in their long-depreciated values. Says Goldsmith, "Easier money and higher bond prices expected even under a restrictive credit policy as the demand for credit continues to decline."

Ominous View — Russia's spunkies are "the forerunners of the most destructive weapon ever devised by man."

That is the considered opinion of Rep. James Patterson, R. Conn., member of the Joint Atomic Committee, following a recent extensive tour through Russia. He voiced this ominous view in his weekly newsletter to constituents, as follows:

"I predict that in a comparatively short time, the Soviet will be able to launch much larger satellites capable of carrying 1,000 pound hydrogen or cobalt bombs, and to drop them accurately on any large city, seaport or other strategic target anywhere in the entire world."

"My statement may be officially denied in view of recent attempts to minimize the importance of these Russian experiments. But every responsible Defense official and every scientific specialist knows that I am telling the truth."

The Russian spunkies, according to Patterson, were launched "from a 65 degree angle in Franz Josef Land in the Arctic Ocean."

Your proposition that the citizen should cast an informed ballot is precisely the aim of the League of Women Voters of East Stroudsburg. Our purpose is "to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation in government." Therefore it was most heartening to read your editorials mentioned above.

I am enclosing two "Voters Guides," both typical of only one phase of a voters service rendered to all communities where a League of Women Voters is established. We here in this area hope to have published a similar guide for free distribution to voters before elections. ## VFW Post Driving For Memberships

by Jim Riley

Thomas P. Lambert Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is currently in the midst of its annual membership drive.

The drive is being headed by George J. Straka, chairman of the membership committee.

Straka has urged members of his committee to contact as many veterans as possible personally. This drive is open to non-members and members who for one reason or another dropped out of the organization in the past.

A special emphasis has been placed on Korean War Veterans.

Anyone interested in joining the VFW organization is asked to contact Straka, Post Commander Fred Feller, Forrest Faber, Larry Zaccaro, Harvey Possinger, Larry Saverecool, Tom Shiffer, Henry Walp, Frank Weller, Fred Spring, Charley Nevil, Nelson Westbrook, Andy Merry, Francis Noone and Carl Christensen.

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Frantz, Scotrun, became the proud parents of a son at the General Hospital of Monroe County on Saturday. The youngster was born at approximately 2 a.m.

The new arrival, to be known as Paul Richard Frantz, weighed in at eight pounds, eight and three-quarter ounces. Pop claims his nickname will be "Jaka."

Mother and son are doing well and father is expected to be up and around in a few days.

The Frantz family also has a daughter, Beverly, is a second grader at Pocono Township Consolidated School, Tannersville.

Bob and Ginny Ludgate and children have moved into their new home on Normal St., East Stroudsburg.

Everyone sends their best wishes.

Watch out for those cement blocks, Bob.

An angry guest at the Ambassador called the night clerk at 2 a.m. to protest, "There's a man in the next room yelling at the top of his lungs." "That's Mr. Rory O'Holler, a very big wheel," soothed the clerk. "He's talking to Los Angeles."

"Well, for cripes sakes," snapped the irate guest, "tell him to use the telephone!"

Anita Loos recalls that at the height of the inflation in Germany in the twenties, a Berlin housewife was charged three million marks for two eggs. "This time you've gone too far," she exploded. "Just yesterday, I got three eggs for that price!"

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Like a squirrel who stores away nuts for the winter, I try to gather up little nuggets of information which you might some time find useful. So from Edna Palmer Engelhardt's informal talk yesterday afternoon, here are two bits of advice for would-be painters:

(1) An artist must have an observant eye (that's for noticing such things as the fact that in a summer landscape the farther away a thing is the more gray it looks, but in a winter landscape the far vistas are often rosier than the cold foreground).

(2) Think out your painting before you begin to paint, knowing what you want to say in your painting and how you're going to say it.

Well, the first part I tried out. I observed that the light blue lying on the cakes at the table exactly matched the blue of Mrs. Walter Caulfield's blue satin hat as she peered at one end of the table. At the other Mrs. Foster Minnich had on a pink feather hat which contrasted nicely, and I wondered if they'd planned it that way.

I also noticed that Mrs. Ida Kunkle was feeling very relaxed about being able to attend an afternoon club meeting after all these years of working, and that Mrs. Russell Hamblin's black fan was painted with flowers that just matched her pink ribbon and felt hat.

I observed lots of other things, but now I realize that I'll never be able to live up to part 2, because while I start out to tell you about one thing, I suddenly remember something else quite different that you might like to know.

Like the fact that Sig Butler picked a fine time to get appendicitis with Ann Logan fruit cake week keeping all its members on the hop. However, Sig didn't plan it that way, either, with the whole thing being a big surprise.

But honestly this weekend was a grand time for housewarming with the thermometer outside so cold that everybody needed a bit of cheer within. Heard of two more — one for the Wakefields and one for the Stofflets. And they were surprised, too.

Some Good Pork Dinners For Brisk Autumn Days

The tangy, aromatic foods of fall are nicely matched to sharpened appetites. Pork is a particularly good buy just now and presents no problem in serving a substantial meal if you choose something like a kraut, pork and apple dinner.

Using Basic Favorite For instance, a pie using these basic favorites is certain to please hearty appetites. It's low in cost, too.

To serve 6, heat 2 tbsp. salad oil.

Add 1 lb. lean pork shoulder that has been diced. Cook until brown on all sides. Add a (1 lb. 11 oz.) can sauerkraut and 1 c. chopped onions. Also a medium-sized apple, cored and sliced.

Cover and cook 1 hr. or until pork is tender.

Meanwhile, prepare a (12-oz.) pkg. corn muffin mix according to directions on the package.

Drop corn muffin batter by tablespoon around edge of casserole.

Bake at 425° F. 30 min. or until corn muffin mixture is done.

Here's a real pork chop treat.

To serve 4, melt ¼ c. butter or margarine with ¼ c. butter.

Bake at 350° F. 45 min. to 1 hr. or until chops are tender.

Painting Demonstration Holds Local Woman's Club

Edna Palmer Engelhardt put on a blue smock and went to work painting a blue sky with white clouds, an icy creek, evergreens and rhododendrons in a snow-covered landscape, adding at the request of her audience a few white birches.

The resulting oil painting was presented by her to the Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs for their welfare fund. There was a capacity audience of members and guests at the Stroud Community House to hear Mrs. Engelhardt, an artist of note who is a native of Monroe County.

She displayed several types of paintings, and as she painted described what she was doing, and why, answering questions from the audience in the informal talk.

The meeting was the first under the new plan with members assembling at 1:30 for tea before the meeting began.

Walter H. Caulfield and Mrs. Foster Minnich, past presidents, presided at the tea table.

Education Week Mrs. Samuel O. Wells, III, reminded members that this is National Education Week and called their attention to the education programs to be broadcast every day this week arranged by the education committee of the club.

Mrs. Van D. Yetter, Mrs. Evan Reese and Mrs. Harvey Huffman. This committee is also sponsoring the Oscar for the teacher to be awarded at the January club meeting.

Letters of appreciation were read from Rama and her father in India for the hospitality of the club during Rama's summer visit here.

Mrs. George Robinson, literature chairman of the club, was commended for her recent book review in the Daily Record.

Mrs. Fred L. Scheller arranged the tea table decorations. Co-chairmen with her were Mrs. Fred W. Kegley and Mrs. Edward S. Stevens. Other members of the hostess committee were Mrs. Robert R. Hellmann, Mrs. Frank B. Michaels, Mrs. Dettlef A. Hansen, Mrs. Henry Nitsch, Mrs. LeRoy Mikels, Mrs. Foster S. Minnich and Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield.

EAST STROUDSBURG High has a 6-1 record on the gridiron. And if the Cavaliers were meeting their conquerors—Wilson Borough—today there would be a better than even chance that Jack Kist's eleven could and would erase the Warrior blenish of its log.

Football is a funny sport. Especially this season when flu and weather combined talents to throw practically every school's original schedule upside down.

Wilson started out fast, but of recent weeks has been getting by with less power than was shown in earlier contests. The Cavaliers, on the other hand, came out fast at the start, tapered off considerably, and have picked up momentum in recent weeks.

What is the answer to such change of paces. In the case of Wilson little is known what has transpired. However, the Cavaliers "letdown" problem was solved when taskmaster Kist decided the boys were taking things a little too easy during the virus siege.

"Naturally during the sickness stage we had to take things easy. But when the squad got back to full strength again, we wrongly continued the light workout formula," he said.

The Eastburg grid mentor continued: "Our timing was off on plays, boys were missing blocking assignments and the tackling became sluggish. All because of a rut which we let get deeper."

"Ten days ago we decided the party was over and got back to hard work. Scrimmages were held longer than usual and eventually the poor timing, inadequate blocking and imperfect tackling began rounding into shape again."

"It was a situation that simply got out of hand," Kist evaluated. "It was fortunate for us that we saw the reason for our sluggishness in time."

East Stroudsburg lost only once during its letdown—Wilson. But the Cavaliers were far from polished, despite wins over Pen Argyl and Bangor.

"We just took the bull by the horns and the results have been more gratifying the last two outings," Kist concluded.

Joe Viglione, Port Jervis head coach although disappointed in his team's setback at the hands of the Cavaliers Saturday night at Memorial Stadium, was high in praise of the Kist-coached eleven.

"They're a good ball club," the Bangor native said. "They've got a fine set of backs and are tough in the middle of the line."

"Our kids didn't quite expect such opposition. However, if we looked at the record (5-1 at the time) we would have known they had something."

"Probably the best thing that could have happened to us was the loss to Eastburg," Viglione figured.

"We've got two tough games ahead of us (Albany, N. Y. and arch-rival Middletown, N. Y. highs) and there is nothing like a defeat to get boys back in the right frame of mind."

Port Jervis is 3-2-1 on the season. And Viglione feels this is as good a record as can be expected. "After all most of our games are with schools that are three to six times larger than our institution."

From our observation "Viggy" got himself a well-balanced club. His team will move the ball on any foe and if you give them a break, they have the potential to break a game wide open.

East Stroudsburg beat a better-than-average eleven last Saturday night. This is a fact as well as the 13-0 figure.

Celtics Win Ninth

BOSTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Big Bill Russell scored four points and came up with a great block of a Bob Pettit shot in the final minute tonight as the Boston Celtics defeated St. Louis 92-88 and ran their National Basketball Assn. winning streak to nine straight.

Star Quits Team, Signed By Browns

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11 (AP)—Charlie Sidwell, who quit William and Mary's football team last week after earning all-Southern Conference honors in 1956, has been signed to a professional contract by the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League.

Coach Paul Brown of the Browns, leaders in the NFL's Eastern Division, said today Sidwell was signed over the weekend to play next season. Sidwell was drafted two years ago by the Browns at the end of his sophomore season after he had spent two years in military service.

Before this season opened, Southern Conference coaches nominated Sidwell as the prospective back of the year in the 10-team circuit, but the 212-pound native of Portsmouth, Va., failed to live up to expectations.

Lost Desire
At the same time he left the squad last week, W.M. Coach Milt Brewer said Sidwell told him he had "lost his incentive and desire."

Sidwell last year ranked third in the nation in kickoff returns and fifth in punt returns, as well as second in the conference in rushing. He also was a top pass receiver and punter. He was fourth in the conference in rushing this season when he quit and third in punting.

Local Ownership Possible

New Group May Buy Glen Brook

MEMBERS of Glen Brook Country Club are banding together to keep the property from being sold to outside interests, it was announced yesterday.

The newly formed group has held several meetings and is now soliciting stock purchase subscriptions binding on the subscribers under conditions outlined by the group.

The property was placed on the market about two months ago.

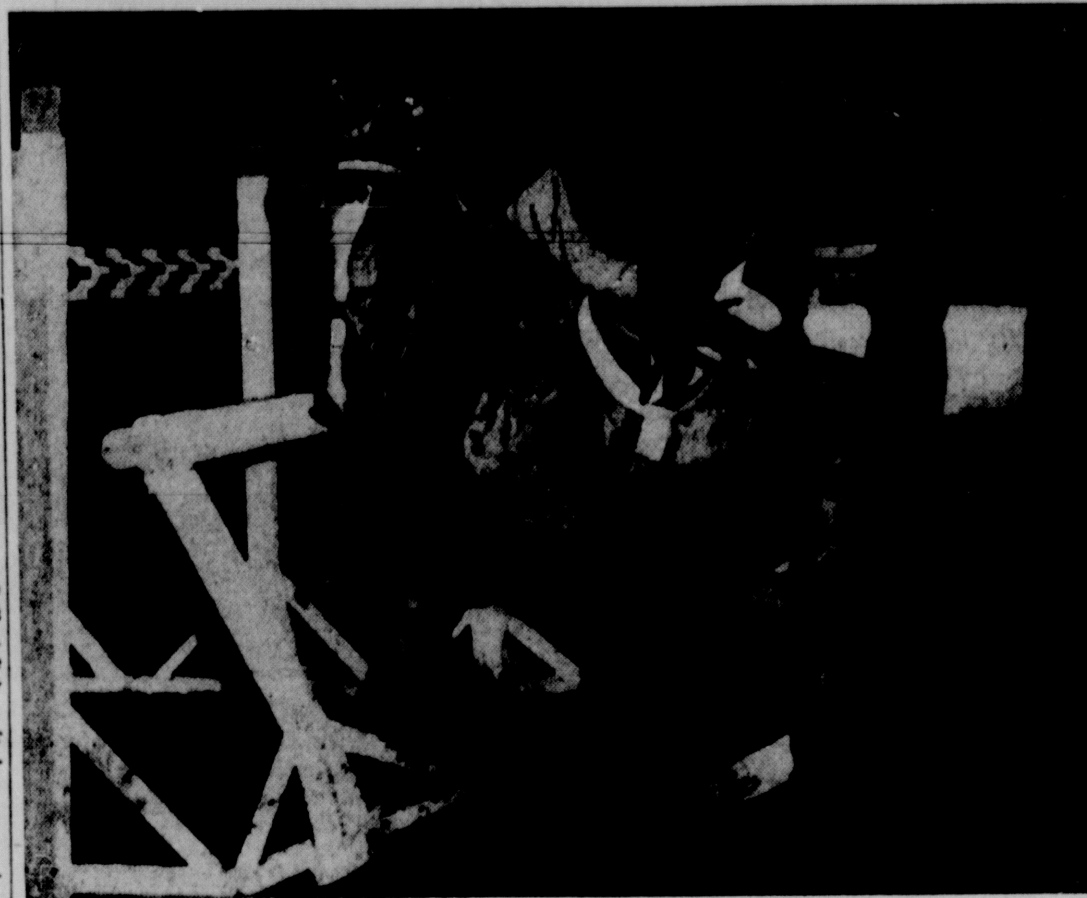

The group plans installation of a swimming pool and improved dressing room facilities and has as one of its objectives making the club an all year around operation.

Ownership of stock in the club does not make the shareholder a member of the club. Applicants must still be reviewed by the membership committee.

Persons seeking more information on the plan are urged to contact J. H. Small, Richard Altomese, J. Joseph McCluskey, Joseph Wallace or John E. Watt.

Mahan Paces Field In International

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—Mahan, a British-bred horse who's been around, slammed down the stretch at Laurel Park today to capture the sixth running of the invitational $100,000 Washington, D.C., International for the Hasty House Farm of Toledo, Ohio, in a 1.2 American finish.

Mahan whipped Virginia-bred Third Brother, the favorite, by 3 1/2 lengths.

Second Try
It was the second crack at the great mile and one half grass course classic for Mahan, who ran for France in 1955 and finished up the track in 10th place as Venezuela's El Chama romped off with the colorful global gallop.

Eight horses representing five countries battled it out this beautiful sunny but cool afternoon and a jam-packed holiday crowd of 30,467 whooped it up when the Stars and Stripes made its best showing in the spectacular event. Only one American had ever won before.

C. V. Whitney's Fisherman in 1954.

The best the invaders could do this time was a third place by Stephanotis, from Ireland, a horse who gladdened many hearts here and abroad last month when he won the Cambridgehire at Newmarket, England and made a lot of Irish hospital sweepstakes tickets valid.

Laurel Turf
Sammy Boulmetis, who was born in Baltimore the son of a Greek tailor, was astride Mahan, who won the Laurel Turf Cup 10 days ago and qualified for an invitation after Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man withdrew. Third Brother, owned by C. T. Chenery of Doswell, Va., was a substitute American choice, filling in for the Kerr Stable's Round Table.

They did the Red, White and Blue proud, however, as they came off the bench and got the job done, although Ted Atkinson was barely able to keep Third Brother together long enough for second money.

Flu Floors Middle King
SYRACUSE, N.Y., Nov. 11 (AP)—Middleweight champion Carmen Basilio was sent to bed today under orders from his physician.

"He's suffering from a flu-like illness which has forced him to cancel all appearances for the next three or four days, including a Hall of Fame dinner in Milwaukee Thursday. He was to receive a 'boxer of the year' award at the affair."

Cooper Signs As Manager
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Indianapolis Indians of the American Assn. today signed Walter Cooper, 41-year-old veteran of 18 years in the National League, as playing manager.

Cooper, a catcher who started and ended his big league career with the St. Louis Cardinals, was given a two-year contract at an undisclosed salary. He replaces Andy Cohen, Indian manager for one year.

Bowlers In Action
BUSHKILL Bowling League will bowl today at Harmon's Recreation in East Stroudsburg starting at 9:15 p. m. Schedule follows:

Indians Expected To Name New General Manager Today

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11 (AP)—Tomorrow the Cleveland Indians are expected to hire a general manager to replace Hank Greenberg, but the Tribe's front office brass won't say in advance who is under consideration.

William R. Daley, board chairman of the baseball club and largest stock holder, said the Board would meet tomorrow morning. Eleven of the 13 directors, including Greenberg, probably will be there.

Bill Veeck, former owner of the Indians, visited Daley's office today to advise Daley he is preparing a bid to buy the baseball property. But afterward Daley, who holds 35 per cent of the stock, said:

"My stock is not for sale. I thanked Bill for coming. It was nice of him."

Purpose
Veeck had said the purpose behind his visit was so that Daley would hear of the purchase plan direct from Veeck instead of in a round-about way. Veeck bought the Indians in 1946 and sold them in 1949 for two million dollars.

Greenberg, second largest stock holder with about 20 per cent, and some other holders may be interested in Veeck's proposition, even though Daley is not, and Veeck may settle for a part interest, the Cleveland News said. The newspaper said Veeck was believed ready to offer about four million dollars for all stock.

As for the general manager post, the club owners have talked with Bill DeWitt of St. Louis, now administrator of a half million dollar fund set up by the major leagues to aid the minors. Both DeWitt, who has expressed interest in the job, and the Indians' owners have been non-committal about the interviews.

Others
The names of Frank Lane, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox and for six seasons prior to last season manager of the Tribe, also have bobbed up.

Lane, who has another year left on a three-year contract, said in St. Louis today he had "not been offered the job" as "Tribe general manager and didn't know whether he would accept it if it were offered."

DeWitt also talked with St. Louis newsmen today and said he would be in contact with Cleveland club officials tomorrow.

"I am very happy in my present baseball job and with my home here," DeWitt said.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said a "well-informed" source here insists he has his facts "100 per cent correct" and forecasts that Lane will be named general manager of the Cleveland board of directors tomorrow.

Phillies Ink Young Outfielder
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies today signed Joe Bobby Land, 18-year-old outfielder from Salina, Okla., to a contract with Bakersfield in the class C California League.

Land had a .515 batting average as an outfielder in his senior year.

Cooper Signs As Manager
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Indianapolis Indians of the American Assn. today signed Walter Cooper, 41-year-old veteran of 18 years in the National League, as playing manager.

Frick To Wrestle With Realignment

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick again will wrestle with baseball's realignment problems tomorrow in another meeting with heads of the Pacific Coast League, American Assn. and Texas Leagues.

The San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers, who brought the problem to a head, also will be represented.

Since the first meeting, both the Texas League and American Assn. have reaffirmed their desire to stand pat.

The Texas League, called hurriedly into session at Dallas by President Dick Butler, again denied Houston and Dallas permission to seek affiliation with leagues of higher classification.

They had been turned down for the first time by a 6-2 vote, Oct. 14. Both had indicated they would like to be in the American Assn. or the Pacific Coast League.

Proposals
Butler reported to the league the various proposals discussed at last week's meeting with Frick, George Trautman, president of the National Assn. (minors), and other officials.

Ed Doherty, president of the American Assn., also reported on last week's session at a special meeting of the directors of his league at Chicago. There had been rumors that Denver might shift to the Pacific Coast League but Doherty issued this statement after the meeting:

"The American Assn. voted today (Sunday) to operate with the same members in 1958, to play a 154-game schedule, to open April 15 and close Sept. 7."

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, and E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi, vice-president of the Dodgers, who attended last week's session, will be on hand for the second round.

Frick's office insisted the matter of paying indemnities to the Coast League by the Giants and Dodgers was not a subject for discussion at the meeting. However, there probably will be a private huddle of the two major league club officials and coast delegates after Frick's meeting.

Junior Cagers To Practice
THE JUNIOR Basketball League of the Stroudsburg YMCA will open practice sessions at 4 p. m. tomorrow. Interested persons are asked to attend with sneakers and trunks.

So far, 18 youths have registered for the year and there is room for about 15 more players. The age limit is 11 to 15. Persons who will be 16 before next Jan. 1 are not eligible.

Ken Rozelsky, boys' physical instructor, will direct the program.

Court Officials Meet Tomorrow
THE STROUDSBURG Chapter of PIAA Basketball Officials will meet at the local YMCA at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow for a session on interpretation of rules.

The date was inadvertently listed as Tuesday in yesterday's Record.

Ladies To Bowl
THREE bowling matches are scheduled for the East Stroudsburg Ladies' League, at Harmon's Recreation today, at 6:45 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Square Bar vs. Zacher's.

Alleys three and four—Town Tavern vs. Russ's Restaurant.

Alleys five and six—Eagles vs. Weichel's Buick.

Archer Earns Nod
NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Aggressive Jimmy Archer bombed Tony DeCola's body thoroughly tonight and scored his second straight triumph over his interborough rival and his 12th consecutive victory in a pulsating all New York 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. Archer was awarded a split decision.

TRESPASSERS
will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

BLUE RIDGE - CHERRY VALLEY ROD & GUN CLUB

Alleys one and two—H. M. Place, Builder vs. Asher Whitaker, Sign Painter.

Alleys three and four—Winnona 5 Falls vs. Bushkill Falls.

Machen Risks Rating In Jackson Bout

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11 (AP)—Eddie Machen's manager charged today heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson's plot has "tried in every way in the world to sidestep a title fight and probably will keep on."

Sid Flaherty said he doubted that even a convincing victory by Machen over Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson in their nationally televised 12-round bout here Wednesday night would change the situation.

Topes
Machen, the undefeated 25-year-old from Redding, Calif., has won 23 fights, 15 by knockout. He's rated the No. 1 contender by both the National Boxing Assn. and Ring Magazine.

Jackson hasn't entered the ring since last July 29 when Patterson handed him a brutal beating and stopped him in the 10th round. The New York boxer currently is ranked No. 6 by the NBA and fifth by Ring.

Flaherty and his boxer voiced confidence of victory but still Sid sees trouble in landing a title fight.

"Cus D'Amato says we won't fight for anybody but the International Boxing Club. That's the bunk," said Flaherty. "We'll fight for the title under an independent promoter if that's what D'Amato wants."

"He has tried every way in the world to sidestep a title fight and probably will keep on. Not that I blame him not wanting to risk the championship against Eddie. D'Amato says we once turned down a title fight but I say no one in a responsible position ever offered one."

Reply
In New York, D'Amato had this to say:

"He (Flaherty) is looking for publicity. He refused to fight Patterson when Emil Lence (who promoted Patterson's first defense) was looking for an opponent last summer, before Jackson finally took the match. I said then if he turned it down he wouldn't get another chance. It still goes until the fighter is completely dissociated from any IBC ties."

Matchmaker Bennie Ford expects a gate of perhaps $50,000 for the 10 p. m., EST, battle at the Cow Palace which will have a TV blackout in San Francisco and vicinity.

Jackson, with his shuffling, cuffling style without much power, could give Machen more trouble than he expects. Tommy stands to collect $4,000 TV money and 27 1/2 per cent of the net gate. Machen fights for the same return.

Dotted Line Triumphs In Vineland
CAMDEN, N.J., Nov. 11 (AP)—King Ranch's Dotted Line, racing from far back in the field of 13 horses, won the $61,800 Vineland Handicap today as longshots dominated the closing feature of Garden State Park's record-setting season.

Dotted Line, with Ismael Valenzuela up, finished a length and a quarter up on D & H Stable's Pardala. Romanita, from Reverie Knoll Farm, was third in the mile and an eighth test for fillies and mares.

Almost overshadowing the feature were the wagering and attendance records set in the park's combined 50 days of racing this spring and fall. For the first time in New Jersey history the handle passed the 100 million dollar mark—$100,428,678. The attendance total, including today's 31,993, was 1,106,436, another Jersey record.

Luster Lost
Some of the luster was taken from Dotted Line's win by the absence of morning favorites Pucker Up and Princess Turia, both of whom were scratched.

Dotted Line toured the nine-furlong distance in 1:49 3/5 in taking home top money of $39,570. She paid her backers $16.40, $10 and $6.50.

Pardala, with Hedley Woodhouse up, paid $20.50 and $11.60. Romanita, under W. Blum, paid $7.60. Pardala's take was $12,360 and Romanita's was $6,180.

Sands Gains Verdict
SYDNEY, Nov. 11 (AP)—Australi-an lightweight Russell Sands, 134, outpointed Sapo Ortega, 133 1/2, Mexico, in a 12-round bout at Sydney Stadium tonight.

Bowling Clinic

By Billy Sixty

IN THE perfect golf swing, the right arm hugs the side in its backward course, and the arm stays there in the downswing until just before the ball is struck. That's when it applies the power. With the arm staying in place, the swing is from "the inside out"—to the right of the target, at approximately 2 o'clock on the dial.

If you can picture the golf swing at that angle, concentrate on swinging the bowling ball through also at the 2 o'clock hand—to the right—and you'll acquire the effective arm lift (see sketch) that puts the arm in line with the right shoulder at the end of the reaching follow-through and to a natural, easy lift.

More To Right
On a slow or tacky alley, needing polish, swing the right arm even more to the right. But, most important of all, don't be concerned about missing the head pin—or even tossing the ball in the right hand gutter a few times. It takes patience and swing and timing to finish in a right-shoulder line. Once you get it you'll find that all the effort and disappointment too was worthwhile.

If the alley surface is slick, you release the ball a bit more to the right, nearer the gutter, and you adjust your starting position to get that angle. In that way the ball will be more directly toward the head pin. But the swing doesn't change—still in right-shoulder line.

Russians May Be Ready To Claim Moon As Territorial Possession In Near Future

By James F. King
LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Are the Russians out to claim the moon as a territorial possession? Might sound fantastic—but wait a minute. One of Britain's most widely read scientific writers, Chapman Pincher of the Daily Press, has raised the prospect of a race by the world powers to conquer the moon.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Tuesday, Nov. 12, 1957
March 21 to April 20—While you get ahead in many ways now, it would be wise to check and re-check before acting, to be sure you are not misled, or that you don't overlook essentials.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—As with Aries, your influences indicate a need for reviewing before taking action. Safety measures can prevent foolish errors, losses. "A stitch in time," you know. You can make good headway, however, if you are careful.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Don't press too hard for achievement. Rather, go along in a smooth and genial manner and returns will come in. Inner tension hampers attainment.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—View all things in their proper perspective now as to be able to give due time to vital matters. Rather, go along in a smooth and genial manner and returns will come in. Inner tension hampers attainment.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—You may have many offerings to consider now, but all may not be worthwhile. Look before the surface, and be careful in your choices.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Don't waste time on unessential things. Take care of the "musts," and let other matters go for the time being. Avoid hurry, tension.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—You may have to look twice before you recognize true values, so take sufficient time before making decisions. Enjoy free time intelligently; relax, too.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Avoid strain, haste, quick decisions. However, don't wait too long before making necessary changes or alterations, or you could lose out.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Trying to be perfect won't be as effective as being efficient and steady. Those who are sensible will think first, and well, before proceeding.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—A triumph of your imagination may be realized now or soon. Consolidate gains where possible.

There are no seas or rivers dividing the moon's surface into continents. Therefore, could the Russians claim the entire moon by plunging a single Soviet flag into its surface. Pincher said he put this question to a Soviet satellite expert, Leonid Sedov, at a recent scientific meeting in Barcelona.

"The legality of that situation can be argued when it happens," Sedov replied.

Sources
Pincher, who has Soviet scientific sources, said the Russians have set a five-stage timetable:

1. They hope to put an unmanned rocket on the moon within a year, splashing dye over the moon's surface to show astronomers the point of impact.

2. An attempt to put up a satellite with a human being aboard will be made within two years. Moscow radio has announced plenty of volunteers. The Russians feel they would run little more risk than test pilots now flying 2,000-m.p.h. jet planes.

3. The Russians next plan to fire rockets around to the dark, unexplored side of the moon to take photographs.

4. Then rockets will land on the moon with robot tankettes—small caterpillar tracked vehicles capable of exploring the moon's surface and sending back information.

5. Finally manned flights to the moon with the establishment of lunar bases for astronomical and other scientific work. The Russians have not committed themselves to a date for the manned flights.

One Soviet scientist, Dr. N. A. Varavrov, has predicted the establishment of Soviet cities on the moon within 50 years.

The idea is to build them in the moon's craters under huge domes of glass which will contain a normal earth atmosphere.

Factories would be set up powered by the sun's energy to supply the necessary services.

Other officers elected at this meeting were: president, Millard "Pete" Bennett, of Arizona Inn, Tucson, and Brockway Hot Springs, Lake Tahoe, Calif.

First vice-president, Edwin A. Boss, Boss Hotels, Des Moines, Ia. Second vice-president, Vernon Herndon, Palmer House, Chicago.

Elected secretary, succeeding Gillam, was Neal Mack, The Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C.

Comments from a 3 per cent minority indicated they too would help support the old folks in most cases but reluctantly.

"I would do so in an emergency," said an Arkansas girl. "I'd sure hate to have to take care of them," said a Berkeley, Calif., boy. "But I guess I would if necessary."

Frank, a Los Angeles youth, balanced carefully on the fence with his comment: "I don't think my parents would ever ask me to do it."

In some families of more than one child, the youngsters were ready to help but they felt the contributions should be shared.

"I would do it because I would feel it half my responsibility as I'm sure my brother would help," said an Alexandria, Ala., girl.

"I think my brothers and sisters would share in taking care of our parents," a Brockton, Mass., boy told us.

Old Age Homes Out
Nine out of ten teen-agers think it's only fair that they be asked to help out their parents if need be, but only about half would like to have their dependent parents live in their homes. Forty-four per cent said it would be better if they did not.

"My parents are always welcome into my home, whether it be for a weekend or forever," said Mrs. Janice Schwartz of Baltimore.

"My mother would be welcome at our home or my dad but not both," a state of Washington girl noted. "If possible they should live alone, but close to us."

"I would not like to have them in my home and would complain a great deal, but I'd do it," added a Cincinnati girl.

Of those who would prefer to have their folks live elsewhere, nine out of ten youngsters thought a home of their own would be best. Only one in ten favored an old age home.

They've Given It Thought
"I just wouldn't want my parents to live in an old age home," said Phillip Gallagher of Savannah, Ga., speaking flatly for the majority.

"I love my parents very much," said Frances Ricketts of Casselton, N. D. "I would never force them to live any place they didn't choose."

About two out of three teen-agers told us they expect to support their parents in old age. The rest feel they will have to provide at least some help.

And it is interesting to note, 99 per cent of the young men and women said they have given some thought to the subject, an amazingly high percentage.

The girl from Lombard, Ill., who said: "I don't know, I never thought about it before," was definitely in the minority.

Gillam Adds To List Of Hotel Offices

CLIFFORD R. GILLAM, who was recently elected treasurer of the American Hotel Assn., holds several other hotel offices.

For many years, Gillam has been active as a director and officer of the Pennsylvania Hotel Assn. He was president in 1956, the 50th year of the association.

Gillam, president and general manager of The Inn at Buck Hill Falls, was elected to his newest office last Saturday at Cleveland.

Other officers elected at this meeting were: president, Millard "Pete" Bennett, of Arizona Inn, Tucson, and Brockway Hot Springs, Lake Tahoe, Calif.

First vice-president, Edwin A. Boss, Boss Hotels, Des Moines, Ia. Second vice-president, Vernon Herndon, Palmer House, Chicago.

Druggist Plays Big Role In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—This is a drug-loving nation. Each year U. S. druggists fill 136 million prescriptions, and hospitals fill millions more. In the last 15 years the number of prescriptions has gone up 60 per cent.

This trend is going on over most of the pill-taking world, and naturally it's jolly news from the Pan-American Congress of Pharmacy and Biochemistry.

Since the druggist plays an increasingly important part in our lives, this is a good time to drop in on a delegate like John N. McDonnell of Bloomfield, N. J., who practically was born in the drug business and has been there ever since.

Cheerful, tubby man, McDonnell. His father was a druggist, and he has studied, practiced and taught pharmacy. Now he works for the Schering Corp., a pharmaceutical manufacturing firm. You might say he's pushed pills in every direction.

Observations
That the druggist is going in two directions. One type handles everything, including the kitchen sink; the other stresses prescriptions. "There's room for both," McDonnell says.

That what the drug business needs is a sterner code of ethics, especially on the business side. He told the delegates so, to their faces. McDonnell didn't mention it, but druggists are disturbed at tests run in various cities which show the same prescription may cost twice as much to fill at one drugstore as at another.

That it's unethical for a druggist to tell anyone what's in the potter he mixed up for you, and there's a good reason. "People don't realize the story the prescription tells."

That, generally speaking, Latin-American patients prefer injections to pills, and that down there the pharmacist often wields the needle.

That 50 years ago druggists compounded 75 to 80 per cent of all their prescriptions. Now it's down to 20 per cent, but in some ways the pharmacist's lot is tougher. The drugs are more powerful now, and an error can be disastrous.

That although a pharmacist must follow the doctor's orders, if the doctor should err and put a poison in the drug, and the druggist should doze and fill it, it's the druggist who is legally responsible for the mistake.

That the druggist, especially in the small town, tends to be closer to his fellow man than the preacher, doctor or lawyer, possibly because his place is so easy to drop in to.

What Young People Think

Youthful Generation Prepared To Give Support To Parents

By Eugene Gilbert
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

HAVE YOU heard anyone say that modern young people have not the love and respect for their parents that was common a generation or two ago?

It's odd if you haven't because criticisms of that sort are as common today as they were in the last century and for hundreds of years before that.

To pin down the truth or falsity, we put some leading questions recently to 600 youngsters all over the country. It would be interesting to find out what answers middle aged people would give to the same questions about their parents.

These questions were toughies — not ones that could be answered with platitudinous generalities. Instead they got down to what seemed to us the nub of the matter:

Are today's youngsters willing to support their parents in their old age? Do they stand ready even to take their aged parents into their own homes?

Ready And Willing
The answers were as heartening as anything we have come up with in quite a while.

Not only are these representative teen-agers willing to honor their fathers and mothers, but practically all are ready and willing to support their parents if they have to. And our experience is that the answers given by a carefully selected sample such as this are truly representative of the country as a whole.

The comments of two teen-aged girls just about summed up majority thinking on the subject.

"I feel that after all they've done for me, I could never repay them and anything I could do for them would be done willingly and with pleasure," said Judy Glas of New Orleans.

"They took care of me in my youth and I should be more than happy to take care of them in their waning years," added Carole Sue Thorpe of Alpha, Mich.

Comments from a 3 per cent minority indicated they too would help support the old folks in most cases but reluctantly.

"I would do so in an emergency," said an Arkansas girl. "I'd sure hate to have to take care of them," said a Berkeley, Calif., boy. "But I guess I would if necessary."

Frank, a Los Angeles youth, balanced carefully on the fence with his comment: "I don't think my parents would ever ask me to do it."

In some families of more than one child, the youngsters were ready to help but they felt the contributions should be shared.

"I would do it because I would feel it half my responsibility as I'm sure my brother would help," said an Alexandria, Ala., girl.

"I think my brothers and sisters would share in taking care of our parents," a Brockton, Mass., boy told us.

Old Age Homes Out
Nine out of ten teen-agers think it's only fair that they be asked to help out their parents if need be, but only about half would like to have their dependent parents live in their homes. Forty-four per cent said it would be better if they did not.

"My parents are always welcome into my home, whether it be for a weekend or forever," said Mrs. Janice Schwartz of Baltimore.

"My mother would be welcome at our home or my dad but not both," a state of Washington girl noted. "If possible they should live alone, but close to us."

"I would not like to have them in my home and would complain a great deal, but I'd do it," added a Cincinnati girl.

Of those who would prefer to have their folks live elsewhere, nine out of ten youngsters thought a home of their own would be best. Only one in ten favored an old age home.

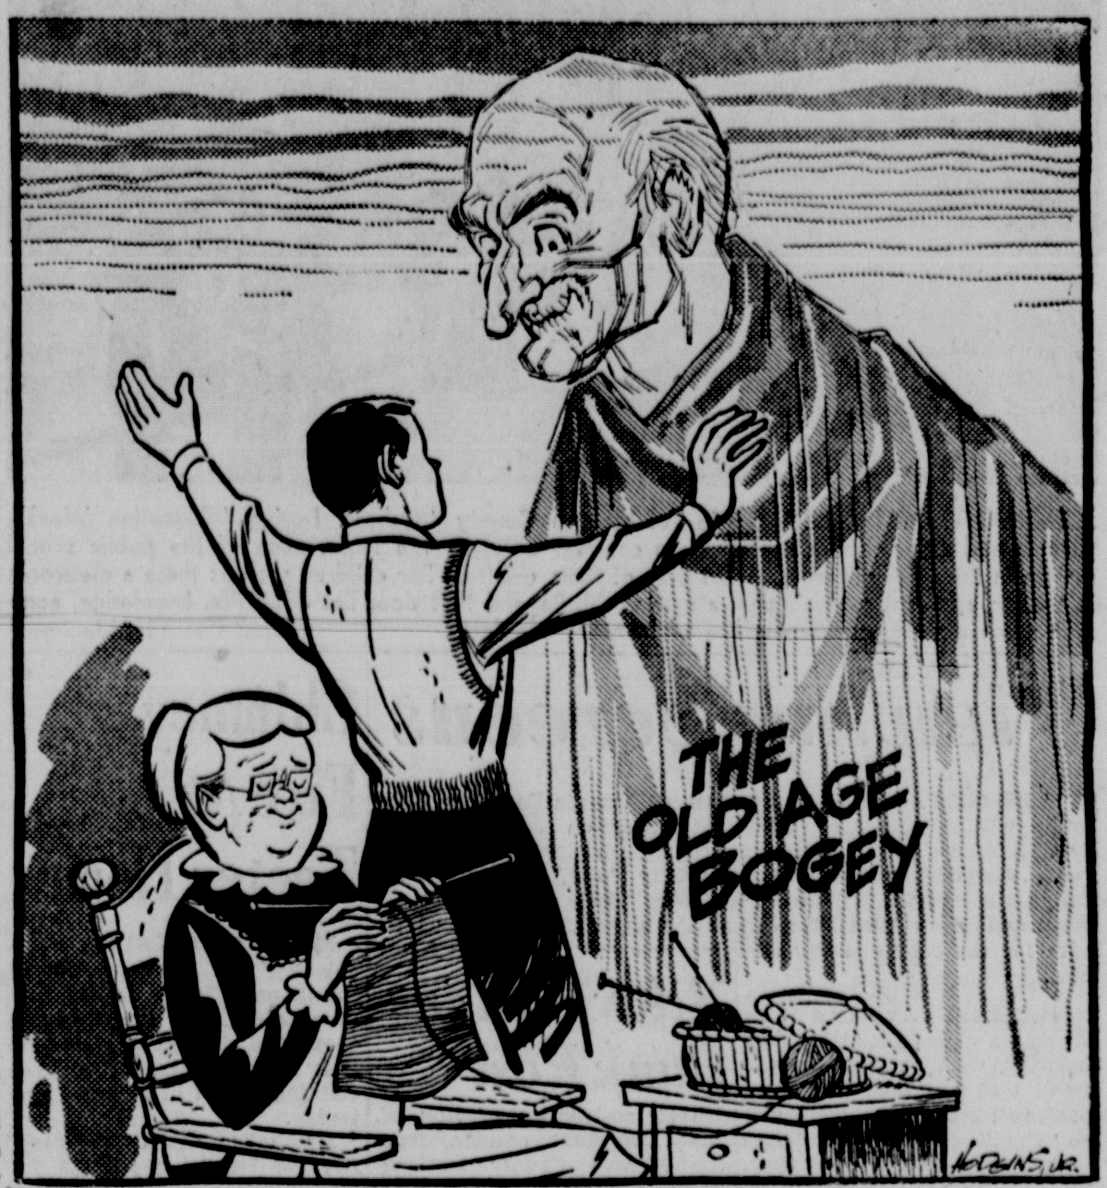

They've Given It Thought
"I just wouldn't want my parents to live in an old age home," said Phillip Gallagher of Savannah, Ga., speaking flatly for the majority.

"I love my parents very much," said Frances Ricketts of Casselton, N. D. "I would never force them to live any place they didn't choose."

About two out of three teen-agers told us they expect to support their parents in old age. The rest feel they will have to provide at least some help.

And it is interesting to note, 99 per cent of the young men and women said they have given some thought to the subject, an amazingly high percentage.

The girl from Lombard, Ill., who said: "I don't know, I never thought about it before," was definitely in the minority.

Rocket Fuel Stocks Make Advances In Slow Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Aircraft and rocket fuel stocks made some gains as the stock market edged ahead today in a slow Veterans Day session.

The turnover of 1,540,000 shares was the lightest since Oct. 4. With only 1,057 issues traded, it was the narrowest market of the year.

Gainers outnumbered losers by 417 to 395 but there were 52 new lows for the year and no new highs.

The range of gains among key stocks was from fractions to a point, generally, reached around 5 points in the aircraft division.

There was a liberal scattering of fractional losers and Standard Oil (New Jersey) dropped more than 2 as trading began on rights to subscribe to its big new stock issue.

Stocks
The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 cents to $155.50 with the industrials up 50 cents, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities down 20 cents.

Most active stock was List Industries, up 1/4 at 9 on 146,400 shares. Second was Standard Oil (New Jersey), off 2 1/4 at 48 1/4 on 70,800 shares. Third was General Dynamics, up 2 1/4 at 54.

Other heavily traded gainers were Olin Mathieson, up 3/4, North American Aviation, up 1 1/4, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet and General Motors were fractionally higher.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Corporate bonds edged ahead in quiet trading.

U. S. government bonds were not traded because over-the-counter houses and most banks were closed for Veterans Day.

Dead Men Tell Tales
AJACCIO, Corsica, Nov. 11 (AP)—Dying of bullet wounds, shepherd Jacques Borda dipped a finger into his blood Saturday and wrote the name "Thomas Colombani" on a stone. Police arrested Thomas Colombani, 49, Sunday and charged him with wilful homicide. He denied he was the killer.

Coal Company Names Directors
WILKES-BARRE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Glen Alden Corp., world's largest operator of anthracite mines, today elected three new members to its board of directors.

The new directors are Albert A. List, Dudley G. Layman and Maj. Gen. Royal B. Lord, all associated with List Industries Corp., which recently acquired 675,000 shares of Glen Alden.

Brodsky Named Plant Manager Of Ronson's Area Operation

LOUIS V. Aronson II, president of Ronson Corp., yesterday announced the promotion of Gerald Brodsky, purchasing agent, to the position of assistant plant manager of the corporation's cigarette lighter manufacturing plant at Delaware Water Gap.

Effective Jan. 1, 1958, Brodsky will be advanced to the office of plant manager, where he will succeed the present manager, Milton S. Pohl, who has held the position three years.

Pohl has resigned, effective at the end of this year, to take an active administrative role in the sizable business owned by his family in New York City.

The Aronson announcement disclosed that Pohl "will continue to be associated with Ronson, during 1958, as a consultant and that the benefit of his experience and his talents will continue to be available to the Delaware Water Gap plant and to the Ronson Corp."

Aronson announced further that F. Jay Martin had been promoted to purchasing agent of the Delaware Water Gap plant to succeed Brodsky.

Pohl has been associated with Ronson Corp. since 1949, becoming manager of the corporation's local operations in 1954 when they were located in East Stroudsburg. Pohl, his wife and their two children, William Lawrence, two, and Elizabeth Gail, two months, reside at East Stroudsburg RD 3.

Brodsky is a graduate of

In April, 1955, Brodsky became purchasing agent of

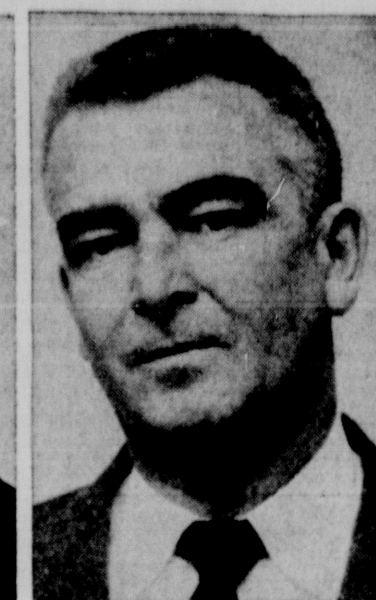

Milton S. Pohl

Ronson Corp. of Pennsylvania in East Stroudsburg and later Delaware Water Gap. Mr. and Mrs. Brodsky and their two children, Meryl Ruth, seven, and Mark David, four, reside at 109 E. Broad St., East Stroudsburg.

Before his recent promotion to purchasing agent, Martin had held the position of assistant purchasing agent. He is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame, having received his Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering in 1933.

He was employed by the

Tax Experts Voice Chagrin

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Top congressional tax draftsmen voiced chagrin today over an Internal Revenue Service ruling that taxpayers must itemize expense accounts payments on their 1957 tax returns.

While the law requiring itemization has been on the books since 1921, it has not been stringently enforced. The new enforcement drive, announced this week, is aimed at persons who receive large expense accounts. But if the ruling were applied generally it could affect thousands of business firms and millions of individuals whose expense allowances are relatively negligible.

"THE TIMES ARE BIG WITH TIDINGS"

Hardly a day passes but we are informed of progress being made in our constant fight against disease. Research workers are always looking for new drugs, antibiotics and man-made chemicals.

Each one is clinically tested against every possible ailment with the hope that a better way of treatment will be found. Millions of dollars are often spent to perfect a single new drug.

As soon as a new drug is released for safe use, we stock it in our prescription department. It is a remarkable achievement that the average charge of all the prescriptions dispensed is less than three dollars.

"My Electrical Family Just Outgrew Me... Until I Learned about HOUSEPOWER!"

TRADE MARK

"Everywhere I looked there was a new electric appliance waiting to be plugged in—to work for my family.

"I just couldn't handle them all. There weren't enough outlets, for one thing. Then, if too many electrical servants were on the line at one time, lights flickered—the TV picture shrank—fuses blew, because my old wiring just wasn't up to the demands of modern electrical living.

"Then I learned about HOUSEPOWER—adequate wiring that would give me at least:

- A 3-wire, 100-ampere service entrance to supply my family's needs.
- At least eight 120-volt circuits and two 240-volt circuits for lighting and appliances—present and future.
- Numerous convenience outlets and switches, conveniently placed to make it easy to light lights or plug in appliances anywhere.

"And I found that an electrical contractor can easily put Full HOUSEPOWER into older homes—quickly and inexpensively.

"Today I'm a 100-ampere home, ready to carry a real electrical load. Now my appliances can do a full-time job for my family—and now we all Live Better Electrically!"
